City of Jacksonville

Mayor Bob Johnson

Jacksonville has a rich history, as is evident by the showcasing of our military history from our Civil War battle ground, Reed's Bridge, to the Jacksonville Museum of Military History located in our downtown. Patriotism runs deep here, as we are home to Little Rock Air Force Base (LRAFB), the Training Center of Excellence for the C-130s.

The Jacksonville Little Rock Air Force Base University Center is a higher education facility jointly funded by the U.S. Air Force and the City of Jacksonville. It is home to 6 colleges and universities and classes are open to those who live and work on base, as well as community members.

Recent collaboration between Jacksonville North Pulaski School District (JNPSD) and LRAFB Community Council has led to the development and funding of a cybersecurity education program at Jacksonville High School. It is one of several Career Pathway programs offered by the district. Others include Culinary Arts, Certified Nursing Assistant and Welding.

Things are happening in Jacksonville! JNPSD has built two new schools, with three others in the construction and design stages. Highway 67/167, designated as Future 1-57, is being widened to 6 lanes. This $100-million-dollar highway project is in its third and final phase of construction. Approximately 80,000 vehicles travel this highway daily.

The spirit of unity and family is what makes Jacksonville special. Visitors often remark that they are drawn to the friendliness of our City. As great as our history was, our opportunities for growth are vibrant and can only be surpassed by our high expectations of a bright and promising future. Whether you are considering establishing a business here or making Jacksonville your home, I encourage you to enjoy Jacksonville and all we have to offer. Once again, thank you for giving me this opportunity to serve our community.

Jacksonville - Home of the Little Rock Air Force Base...

Partners for over 60 Years

The Jacksonville community has always ensured that the men and women who serve at the base are always supported. The base will continue to succeed largely in part because of the unwavering assistance of the local citizens.

Many who were first introduced to the city while in the Air Force have made Jacksonville their home.

It all started back in 1951, the Air Force wanted to build a base in the central part of the country and local leaders convinced congress that they would buy land and donate it for the base.

By the end of 1952, the Pulaski County Citizens Council – now the LRAFB Community Council – had collected almost one million dollars, allowing the air base committee to buy property from more than 150 landowners near Jacksonville.

That same year, the Air Force announced it would build a $31 Million jet bomber base on the site and in 1955 the base was open to air traffic. During the early years the 70th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing performed operational recon missions over the Soviet border.

Today it is the “Home of the C-130 Combat Airlift” – combat-focused operators and the formal training unit for C-130 aircraft. Approximately 54 C-130H/J aircraft are on the flight line at any time. More than 1,800 students are trained annually.

The economic impact the base has is tremendous.

With over 6,000 active duty personnel and more than 1,500 civilian and Department of Defense contractors the Base is the 7th largest employer in the state of Arkansas with a total economic impact of approximately $469 Million.

It's easy to understand why the citizens of Jacksonville are closely tied to Little Rock Air Force Base and why they both work closely together to make Jacksonville better every year.

It is an honor and privilege to lead our chamber board and our members in developing Jacksonville by actively recruiting businesses and developing economic growth. The relationship between the chamber, our city government officials and the leaders of the Little Rock Air Force Base will help escalate the economic growth of the future.

Jacksonville offers a great place for young families with our Parks and Recreation center and all our parks give our young people plenty of opportunity to show off their ability in sports and the creativity to develop their minds with the programs that are offered.

Jacksonville offers a school system with newly built schools that our children will enjoy attending and be proud of while leaning at the highest level. Our newly built High School is offering programs that will not only attract new families to relocate here in Jacksonville but will also become a model of all new schools around the country.

Our Chamber will work hard attracting new business that will allow our citizens and present businesses to buy local and understand what it means to the growth of Jacksonville.

Let's Help Jacksonville Grow!!!
